Dear Mila,

Until we got your card I'd forgotten how long it has been. No, we did not know of your father's death and are sorry to hear of it. I met him only once but he impressed me as a fine person.

I think I remember Bridgewater. I think I stayed at a motel there when I made a speech at or near Brocton. During a blizzard!

I'd thought that the Globe decided against the story you mention, which was provided to it by the States News Service. They asked it to provide more info and the woman reporter phoned to get it. If you'd be kind enough to ask the Globe for a copy I'd appreciate it. That issue may be exhausted but the "morgue," or sometimes called the Library, should have a copy.

Glad you are finally situated and hope you like it and are happy without work.

Not much new here. We are OK, considering our ages and medical histories. Lil's arthritis has missed only her head. I won't go over all of my medical history but to explain the typing and typos, I had the cataract removed from my better eye 11/2 and appear to be doing well. Only I can't use it to read with. I can see better for driving but because I can't pass the eye test I can't drive. I go back to Johns Hopkins on the 12th and hope they can help with this. Because of my blood problems they did the job in a different way and stitches remain. Until they are out I can't get new glasses and the stitches give me astigmatism. So, I guess I'll have to be patient.

Floyd appears to be settled and happy as a mailman in or near Tampa. I've heard from him a few times. He did tell me something about Kim but I've forgotten what he said.

Maybe the college was at Bridgewater. There were two colleges at the place.

If you ever get near here we would like to see you again.

If you use a pencil and correct as you go the typos won't be as hard to follow.

Love,
